

Tufflex® Wire

An alternative to oil tempered and high carbon wire.

In some applications, Tufflex out-performs oil tempered wire two to one.

The strong and durable alternative wire — Tufflex.

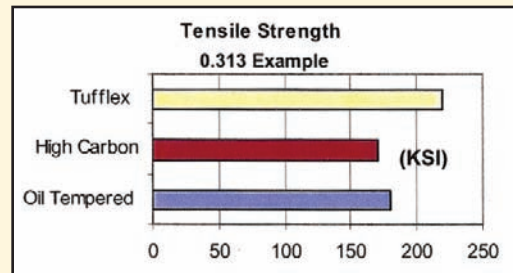

Tufflex wire is an alternative for oil tempered and high carbon wire in certain applications. Although the chemical makeup is similar to that of conventional oil tempered wire, the Tufflex difference is in the manufacturing process.

Features:

- Tufflex manufacturing process includes two strength-building steps. This creates a higher tensile strength than the single-step process for oil tempered wire
- Elongated grains decrease the surface rust and corrosion compared to other wire types
- Higher tensile strength with increased ductility
- Greater consistency throughout the wire

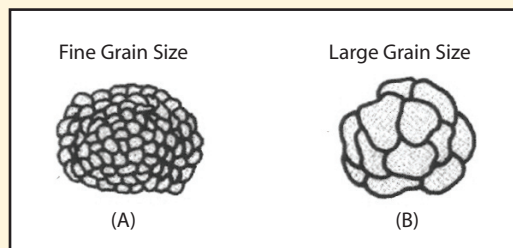

Benefits:

- Proven to last two times longer in test applications
- Increased corrosion resistance with special coating
- Less brittle for impact/abrasive applications
- Lower per ton screening costs

Grain Structure is the Key:

With finer elongated grain (A) structure, Tufflex wire is less susceptible to breakage and has increased ductility.

Accessories:

- A complete line of screen bolts/J-bolts and clamping rails are in stock for same-day shipping
- Check screen rails/clamping system for wear and tensioning capability
- Rubber/urethane crown bar protectors, protective liners and many other parts and solutions
